

ImprovThis!

Fun.Learn.Connect.

About Us

Steve Duberchin and Sue Pontarelli

Who We Are

ImprovThis specializes in creating and facilitating fun, interactive, team building workshops where we use the Three Pillars of Improv™ to teach business professionals how to be more effective in their careers.

Our services range from facilitating 20-person team building workshops all the way up to keynote presentations for as many people as will fit in your room.

We have fun.

American Red Cross Training

What We Offer

ImprovThis provides our clients with turnkey team building events as well as fully customized workshops. We'll work with you to design content which will match your company's real-world requirements.

We teach the communication and leadership tools that make improv successful because they are the exact same tools you can immediately implement to make your business more successful.

Custom Designed Workshop Activity

Why Us

Our customers experience these benefits:

- » Rising employee engagement survey scores
- » Reduced barriers to success, increased acceptance
- » Increased creativity with an energy of agreement
- » Communicating more effectively
- » Creating Win / Win situations out of habit
- » Building a winning office culture

Our experiential learning model will help your team function more effectively, cooperatively, and consistently.

Don't take our word for it, we let our customer feedback do the talking for us:
<https://www.improvthis.com/customers/>